Greetings.

We are very happy to host the 12th Asia Telemedicine Symposium in conjunction with the 22nd Annual Academic Congress of the Japanese Telemedicine and Telecare Association, to be held in Fukuoka from November 9 to 10, 2018. Since the establishment of TEMDEC, we connected 589 institutions in 62 countries, and over 800 teleconferences and live demonstrations were held with fruitful bidirectional discussions. Nowadays, there is no doubt that telemedicine can help to learn from experts, share the experiences with participants and improve health status of individuals in each countries. Therefore, we should expand our activities to everywhere in the world. We welcome you all to Fukuoka to find new information, to meet many friends and to expand your activities to various fields and countries.

Looking forward to seeing you in Fukuoka.
